

SOUTHERN TEACHERS AGENCY

... when only the best will do!

Technology Director
Marist School
Atlanta, Georgia
www.marist.com

Southern Teachers Agency is assisting Marist School in the search for their first Technology Director. Marist School is a Catholic college-preparatory school with an enrollment of 1,080 in grades seven through twelve. Originally founded in 1901 as a school for boys, Marist School has been coeducational since 1976. Located in the suburbs of Atlanta, the mission of Marist School is to form the whole person in the image of Christ by blending three distinct traditions: the pursuit of academic excellence, the heritage of Catholic education, and the spirit of the Society of Mary.

In recent years, Marist has been progressive yet thoughtful in moving forward with technology. Starting with time-sharing a computer with Georgia Tech to its wireless, networked campus today, Marist has committed resources to plan and execute cutting edge technology strategies. For many years, technology was handled in a bifurcated system by a Director of Educational Technology and a Manager of Information Systems. Though this structure worked for many years, the time has come for Marist to install a Technology Director who will oversee all aspects of their program, including curriculum, hardware, software, network, and support.

Though there are clear goals that the Director will attend to first, Marist seeks someone with the knowledge, skills, and flexibility to succeed in the ever-changing world of educational technology.

Please read the full Opportunity Statement (available at www.SouthernTeachers.com) to learn more about the history and future of technology at Marist and the exciting career opportunity this position presents. As one long-term employee summarized, "There is no limit to what can be achieved at Marist; the kids are phenomenal and engaged. The faculty buys into the mission of the priests. People are excited about coming to work and doing what is necessary." Marist offers even more; it offers a community with a rich history, a clear mission, and a unique identity.
